But I must explain to you how all this mistake will give you a complete account of the system expounding the actual teachings of the great exponent of the truth, the master-builder of human happiness. One rejects, dislikes, or avoids pleasure itself, because it is pleasure, but because those who know how to pursue pleasure rationally encounter consequences that are extremely painful. Is there anyone who loves or pursues or desires to obtain pain of itself, because it is pain, but in certain circumstances occurs in which the pain can procure him some great pleasure? A trivial example, which of us ever undertakes physical exercise, except to obtain some advantage from it? But who has any right to find fault with one who chooses to enjoy a pleasure that has no consequences, or one who avoids a pain that produces no resultant pleasure?
